Get a job in Denmark with a forklift certificate.

Learn how to operate a forklift, in accordance with Danish laws and safety regulations. With a forklift certificate from AARHUS TECH, you will be able to get a job in Denmark at warehouses, storage facilities, distribution centres.

What you will learn.

Upon completing the course, you will be able to operate forklifts and self-driving stackers. You will receive theoretical instruction covering everything from traffic laws, weight distribution of goods, and the construction of the forklift. Additionally, the practical part will make you familiar with driving the vehicle and teach you techniques for driving on ramps, in aisles, and warehouse halls. The course makes you particularly attractive within the transport and logistics industry, where there is a demand for employees who can operate small trucks.
